Sedation Certification

Is the benchmark for safe and effective sedation standardization and meets all criteria for JCAHO, DVM, and AAAHC accrediting organizations

RNs can earn the Certified Sedation Registered Nurse (CSRN) credential and 10 Continuing Education Credits. One year membership in the American Association of Moderate Sedation Nurses (AAMSN) is included.

Moderate and procedural sedation: emergency room, post anesthesia care unit, operating room, special procedures, gastroenterology, endoscopy, radiology, ophthalmology and plastic surgery specialty areas may be given the responsibility of administration and maintenance of sedation in the presence, and by the order, of a physician or other licensed independent provider (LIP).

The registered nurse has the knowledge and experience with medications used and skills to assess, interpret and intervene in the event of complications. The registered nurse and other sedation providers are an asset to the physician and enhances the quality of care provided to the patient. Because of the importance assigned to the task of monitoring the patient who is receiving sedation, a second nurse or

Why this Course was developed

JCAHO in the early 90s identified a discrepancy in the training and monitoring of non-anesthesia nurses doing sedation. Capt. Michael Eslinger, the creator of this program, was appointed to a committee at Naval Hospital Jacksonville, Florida to develop standards within the hospital to meet JCAHO standards, audits and quality assurance issues.

Capt. Eslinger, after retiring from the Navy, was approached by a number of hospitals requesting the use of the four hour certification program he had developed. Because of the obvious void in training, certification and a deficiency in the common standard of knowledge for non-sedation registered nurses, MDs; moderate sedation certification was developed into a standardized training program to meet all of JCAHO, AAAHC and the NIHO Accreditation sedation standards. Sedation certification developed by Capt. Eslinger is the only course of its kind.

Nurses are responsible for knowing the state laws and the Board of Nursing position statement on non-anesthesia nurses giving and monitoring sedation for their state.

Patient Safety Through Communication and Education

Nursing Service personnel are involved with managing the nursing care of patients receiving sedation or analgesic medications while undergoing invasive diagnostic or therapeutic procedures. Medication administration, patient monitoring, discharge instructions, family teaching and patient safety concerns are all nursing care critical elements of patients undergoing conscience sedation.

Moderate Sedation Certification training, often referred to as IV sedation, conscious sedation or procedural sedation is designed for non-anesthesia providers and defines minimal sedation, moderate sedation, deep sedation and general anesthesia. Safe Sedation is the goal of Sedation Certification. This conscious sedation certification course addresses patient safety and the continuum of care which includes the ability to identify and to rescue patients during adverse events or complications.
